Nanosafety Training School: From Basic Science to Risk Governance

Interprofessional Education Training School & Young Scientist Forum 2020

San Servolo Island | Venice (Italy)
Sunday 22nd – Friday 27th March 2020

Organizing projects:

These projects have received funding from the European Union's Horizon 2020 research and innovation programme under grant agreement No 760928 (BIORIMA), No 814401 (Gov4Nano), No 760840 (GRACIOUS), No 814426 (NanoInformaTIX), No 814530 (NANORIGO), No 760813 (PATROLS), and No 814425 (RiskGONE).

Following a long tradition, the Nano Training School in Venice celebrates its 10th anniversary in 2020. Since a decade, the School has been organized by subsequent EU-funded projects, building the legacy of high-quality training in the field of nanosafety and nano-risk assessment, to young scientists from all over the world.

About the School

This year the Venice Nano Training School celebrates its 10th anniversary. The event will take place in San Servolo (Venice, Italy) on 22nd – 27th March 2020.

The School will feature keynote speeches, hands-on sessions and a dedicated Young Scientist Forum Day (23rd March) during which early career researchers (PhD students, PhD candidates and Post-Docs) will have the opportunity to present their work. Abstract submissions will open on 10th December 2019.

The School week will include a variety of hands-on sessions aimed at transferring state-of-the-art knowledge on a variety of topics from key experts to the next generation of nano-environmental, health and safety, and biomedicine professionals, using interprofessional education.

Topics

- ✓ Hazard to Human Health & Environment
- ✓ Fate & Exposure Assessment
- ✓ Nanomedicine: from the lab to the market
- ✓ Modelling
- ✓ Grouping & Read Across Approaches
- ✓ Risk Governance

Venue and Time

The Training School will take place in the unique San Servolo Island.

On-site registration opens at 15.00 CET on Sunday, 22nd March 2020.

Target Audience

The School is especially designed for personnel from research and academic institutions as well as from industry, risk assessment and governmental agencies and hospital departments. The School is aimed at a range of individuals including: early-stage researchers, PhD students and Post-Docs, senior researchers, medical personnel, and all others interested in safe nanotechnology, risk assessment and nanomedicine.

School Certificates

Each participant will be given a Certificate of Attendance upon request.

Registration

Attendance to the School is free of charge but there are limited spaces. To register for the School, please fill in the registration form.

The registration and abstract submission will open on 10th December 2019.

Deadline for abstract submission: 10th January 2020

Notification of accepted abstracts: 30th January 2020

Deadline for registrations: 20th February 2020

What to expect from the school

- ✓ Interactive training sessions
- ✓ Oral and poster presentations by young scientists in the field of nanosafety, nanomedicine and risk governance
- ✓ Open forum for the exchange of information and networking between young and senior researchers
- ✓ Conference dinner & social event

We are looking forward to welcoming you in Venice!
